NEW in the New Year

Books to Screen and Reel to Real

Take the leap from book to screen and from reel to real with a new Llano County Library program starting in January 2020.
Some of the best movies and television programs are adapted from books. The new program will screen exciting movies based on books in the Library's collections. But, patrons won't stop there. Library staff will share how to use the library computers, databases, and book collections to explore related people, events, and places in the real world. Enjoy snacks and lively discussions on the difference between the book, the screen adaptation, and how things played out in the real world.

Watch the newsletter for date and times.

Many people were greatly disappointed that the Llano Recycling Center had to close, and have been looking for alternatives since that time. The Library will host a community discussion where anyone interested can come together to try to find a solution for recycling, plus develop strategies to help people in the community learn more about how to reduce and reuse.

Notes from the Prez:

Hi everyone.

Your Friends group continues our membership drive for 2020. Please get your membership for the upcoming year to help your Friends group as we provide support to our Library programs and activities for next year. How about upgrading your membership? That is one way to further show your support for our Library. You can pick up a membership form from the Circulation Desk.

Have you gotten your pecans from the Friends yet? I know that you are now working on your baking needs and if pecans play a role - we have them. How about a Christmas gift? Pecans make a great gift for this gift giving season. We have a preorder form on the Circulation Desk for you to fill out. You can also call 325-247-4567 from 8AM to 8PM to place your order. This was a very popular fundraiser last year, so buy the quantity that you will need while they are available. We plan on continuing this sale through December.

time for us to thank our patrons for the past year. So come by, sample the goodies, and let's visit.

Not a Friends activity but Texas Tech will be starting their Spring Semester of Osher Lifelong Institute (OLLI). Are you interested in learning something new or have you had an interest in furthering your knowledge in a subject? You might look into the OLLI classes. I will supply some catalogs on the new semester when they become available. The classes are typically about 1 ½ hours long with no homework and no test! It is just an opportunity to learn something new. The classes are held in Fredericksburg and Marble Falls. You can look at their website (<https://www.depts.ttu.edu/olli/olli-hillcountry/>) to see the classes when they update the site with the new classes. I hope you take advantage of this great resource that we have in our area.

I know that this is gearing up to be a busy time of year, but remember that your Library is here to help you with whatever needs you might have. Also, the Friends are there to lend their support to the Library.

See you around the Library.
Robert

In today's world of emails, facetime, and all things electronic the art of hand writing a letter has lost its footing in society. So why not take time this holiday season to hand write letters to a friend or loved one either as a family or on your own.

Writing letters doesn't have to be boring and there are many ways to add your own flair. A pretty piece of paper is a nice surprise, tossing in some pressed flowers, or using a wax stamp (real or sticker kind) to seal the envelope are all great ways to make letter writing exciting.

Here are a few books to get children excited about writing letters:

"A Trip to the Post Office" by Josie Keogh

"It Came in the Mail" by Ben Clanton

"Paper Crafts Workshop" by Marie Browning

If you've been in the library in the last few months, you or your child may have noticed a blue post office box near my desk in the corner. Currently this box is for writing letters to your favorite book character, and they will write a letter back to you. As the holiday season comes to a start the post office box will also be for writing letters to Santa or other holiday friends.

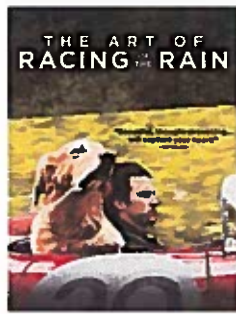

So come on in and write a letter to someone, they just might write you back!

each month, the Circ Crew shares insight into their own lives and happenings at the Library.

Roberta

From Roberta . . .

"The holiday season often brings unwelcome guests". This is the opening sentence from an internet article from the Mayo Clinic. So, what are these unwelcome guests? Yes, I know, there are those relatives we don't want to be around. I'm writing about the anxiety, stress, and depression brought on by parties, shopping, cleaning, baking, entertaining -- I'm worn out thinking about all that has to be accomplished in the next three weeks!

Well, you know the Llano Library has an array of books to help you cope with holiday stress. We have many programs to entertain and relax you, books for you to read and help you cope so the holidays don't take an emotional toll. There are numerous cookbooks to help prepare a healthy meal, and craft books to create your holiday gifts.

Some points to remember: acknowledge your feelings of stress, sadness or grief. Reach out to someone feeling lonely or come to the library. You know we are a friendly staff. Set aside differences with family, be realistic with your expectations, and stick to a budget.

And that, dear patrons, is my story and I'm sticking to it...

Rhonda

From Rhonda

GOOGLE NOT my friends, for there is a better way. In an age of too much information, most of which is highly questionable, the quest for truth weighs heavy on our hearts and minds. There are two reliable sources for finding truth and I wish to share the second today -- the library. More than a building full of books, it is a website filled with resources on everything under the sun -- a factual and trustworthy search engine. As this is a resource I only recently discovered myself, I feel the call to share the good news with all that care to listen.

Below is a step-by-step guide to accessing the database. You do have to have a current Llano County Library card in good standing.

more from Rhonda . . .

- 1) Go to the Llano Library System website llano-library-system.net
- 2) Click on catalog
- 3) Login box at top right corner of page -- your library card number is your login (enter the full number), your phone number your password (include the area code, but no spaces or dashes).
- 4) Scroll down the page and on the bottom left you will see a box with "electronic resources"
- 5) Click on Tex Share to find a world of knowledge and resources on everything under the sun- without the ads, deceptive websites and confusion.

Due to the superfluity of information and profundity of its content I will offer this quick rundown of the vast potential available ... Try a little goat yoga while learning about the epidemiology of strongyle nematode infections or discovering that your father's mother's grandfather was a Texas Ranger.

Take a beginner's computer class or download some legal forms. Got symptoms? We've got answers. Go in depth with current issues in "Opposing viewpoints" or learn about the future in a cashless society. Search for past and present scholarly journals, dissertations and theses. Looking for magazine archives, its got that too.

Leave the chaos and disappointment of Google and utilize this valuable resource called the Llano County Library. We'd love to help!

Hello, my name is Tricia Dwyer-Morgan, and I am your new Circulation/Technology Librarian at the Llano library. What an incredible treat it is to be writing my first article for the Llano County Library News! Libraries have been a part of my life since the very beginning. For my siblings and I, a visit to the library was always the start to a grand adventure. It might include creating puppets, exploring a new section of the library shelves, or viewing a traveling art exhibit.

A life-long love of reading, learning, and story-telling was born during those visits. To be a part of a community that shares in that joy is childhood dream come true.

more from Tricia . . .

Story-telling is a powerful art that captured my imagination from the time I was very small. The glory of libraries is that they encompass every form of storytelling including friends exchanging stories while building a puzzle, story hour readings, movie nights, photography and art exhibits, author talks, Texas histories, and local family genealogies. The list is endless.

It is deeply exciting to know that I will get to share in your stories as we get to know one another over the check-out desk and through the many library programs.

Carolyn

From Carolyn . . .

This month I want to tell you a little about Movie Time and Game Day at the Library. This weekly program is geared toward adults and provides free, fun entertainment. This is a great way to enjoy spending time with friends and to make new friends.

Each month, we select movies that you would enjoy -- it could be a new release or maybe an older movie. As always, we are open for your suggestions, so if there is something you would like for us to show then let us know.

Movies showing in December are: December 6 -- A Heartland Christmas with Amber Marshall, Michelle Morgan, Shaun Johnston, and Chris Potter. The gang bands together to rescue horses, while Lou is frazzled trying to create the perfect Christmas back home. December 20 -- we'll be showing a great love story. You've Got Mail, with Tom Hanks and Meg Ryan and also Jean Stapelton. This new classic has neighborhood bookstore owners unwittingly become email pen pals. The movie is based on the book The Shop Around the Corner.

Game Day and Movie Time alternate Fridays. For Game Day, we have a good selection of board games and cards, but you may bring whatever games you enjoy. We provide free popcorn and a drink, or you can bring your own snacks.

Okay Folks, we will see you at the Llano County Library.

Book Descriptions from Amazon

Me
by Elton John
NOTE: The Library also has the DVD Rocketman
In his first and only official autobiography, music icon Elton John reveals the truth about his extraordinary life, from his rollercoaster lifestyle as shown in the film Rocketman, to becoming a living legend.

Christened Reginald Dwight, he was a shy boy with Buddy Holly glasses who grew up in the London suburb of Pinner and dreamed of becoming a pop star. By the age of twenty-three he was performing his first gig in America, facing an astonished audience in his bright yellow dungarees, a star-spangled T-shirt, and boots with wings. Elton John had arrived and the music world would never be the same again.

His life has been full of drama, from the early rejection of his work with song-writing partner Bernie Taupin to spinning out of control as a chart-topping superstar; from half-heartedly trying to drown himself in his LA swimming pool to disco-dancing with Princess Diana and Queen Elizabeth; from friendships with John Lennon, Freddie Mercury, and George Michael to setting up his AIDS Foundation to conquering Broadway with Aida, The Lion King, and Billy Elliot the Musical. All the while Elton was hiding a drug addiction that would grip him for over a decade.

In Me, Elton also writes powerfully about getting clean and changing his life, about finding love with David Furnish and becoming a father. In a voice that is warm, humble, and open, this is Elton on his music and his relationships, his passions and his mistakes. This is a story that will stay with you by a living legend.
